ALLOY SILVERSTEIN HOSTS ANNUAL EXTERNSHIP DAY PROGRAM

Alloy, Silverstein, Shapiro, Adams, Mulford, Cicalese, Wilson & Co, the 20th largest accounting firm with offices in the Philadelphia area, recently gave aspiring accountants an inside look at the world of public accounting. On January 14th and 15th, students from various local colleges and universities visited Alloy Silverstein's Cherry Hill office for a five-hour session covering a multitude of topics including life as a CPA and surviving tax season. They also received valuable tips regarding résumés and job interviews.

"With so many young people entering the job market, students need that edge which separates them from the pack. We provide that advantage through interaction with our professionals," said Ren Cicalese, managing shareholder of Alloy Silverstein. "In today's economy, jobs aren't as easy to obtain. We want to get their careers started on the right track and that begins with a successful job search."
